MINISTER MAY BECOME SHERIFF

Richmond, Mich., Jan. 23.—Rev. C. H. Rutledge, of Mt. Clemens, announced his candidacy for the office of sheriff of St. Clair county, in an address at the Richmond M. E. church on Sunday evening.

Mr. Rutledge, who spoke in the interest of better enforcement of the liquor law in Macomb county, stated that his "nat was in the ring as a candidate for sheriff, and that if he was elected the county would be "cleaned up and kept clean."

The record of Sheriff Spiller in the matter of the enforcement of the liquor laws was severely arraigned by Mr. Rutledge.

Mr. Rutledge's announcement and his statements regarding law enforcement were greeted with applause.

Mr. Rutledge is not now the pastor of a church. He has been engaged in anti-saloon work for several years in the state of Michigan.

Yale and the County Boys' Conference

Charles Almer Bacon, an old-time printer and Tnomo newspaper publisher, died at his home on South Port Crescent avenue, this city, Dec. 22, after a long illness with heart trouble. He had been confined to his bed for two months. About 13 years ago he nearly died from an attack of pneumonia, from which he never fully recovered.

Mr. Bacon had lived in Bad Axe for the past 29 years. He was born in Oregon, Lapeer county, Michigan, October 14, 1851, and was 70 years of age. In Lapeer he learned the trade of job printer, and later located in Sanilac center, now Sandusky. There he married Miss Harriet Cocran, Nov. 26, 1881. Later they moved to Capac, where he started the Capac Argus and conducted it for two years. From there he went to Armada and founded a weekly paper called the "Artisan." His next newspaper venture was at Sanilac Center, where he started Sanilac County seat's first paper, the News. Later he conducted the Crosswell Democrat for a time but returned to Sanilac Center with a job printing plant and resurrected the News. After a few months the plant and paper were moved to Minden City where Mr. Bacon started the present Minden City Herald. This was in 1891. Selling that plant he quit the newspaper and printing business and came to Bad Axe in 1892. Here has since been his home.—Bad Axe Tribune.

Foxy Boys Pad Bounty

Resources at Caro

Tuscola county records show $19,151.56 have been paid in bounties for rats, owls, woodchucks and crows during the past year.

County Clerk Hill tells of a boy who was a regular customer, asking for bounty on owls.

The clerk asked, "How do you find so many owls?"

The boy replied, "Oh, I have two eggs now under an old hen." This brought to light another case in which sheriff Morris said a boy received an order for $80 for crows from the county clerk, which, when presented to the county treasurer read $8.

When the county treasurer questioned him on how he killed so many crows, he said:

"I rob the nests and set the eggs under a hen."

He was compelled to pay back the $8.00.

Two of the Yale Hi Y boys are on the County Boys' Conference program which is to be held at Marine City. Herbert Cavanagh is to give the "Response for Delegates" at the conference banquet and Clare Slosser is to speak at the Saturday forenoon session on "Squaring Ourselves Physically." It is probable that Yale will be well represented at the conference.

The conference theme is to be "The Four Square Man." All the talks and discussions are to be in line with this subject. The sessions will begin with the Friday afternoon Get Acquainted Meeting at 5:00. The banquet is to be followed by a basketball game between Memphis and Marine City. On Saturday there will be two group demonstrations on "How to Lead a Group of Boys." The State Camp pictures are to be shown, several of the boys will give talks, and the boys will wind up with a "feed."

The Marine City Boys are planning on entertaining the outside delegates. There will be a delegation fee of $1, which will include the banquet, basketball game, program and badge. Enrollments should be sent to Stanley Thomas, Marine City, on or before Feb. 1st. Supt. Greenman has a supply of enrollment blanks.

Something About Success

The following article, written by Alex T. Stewart, under the caption of "The Man in the Street," appeared in the Port Huron Times-Herald recently. It is splendid good advice for every young man:

"Thomas A. Edison was once asked for his idea on how to achieve success. He said: 'I have never had time, not even five minutes, to be tempted to do anything against the moral law, the civil law, or any law whatever. If I were to hazard a guess as to what young people should do to avoid temptation, it would be to get a job and work at it so hard that temptation should not exist for them.'

That's the advice of a man who has achieved world wide fame, and who spent part of his boyhood in Port Huron. In fact the foundation for the success that came to him in later years was laid in Port Huron. Julius, McMartin, of Gratiot avenue, who is better known as the grand old man of North Port Huron, was Mr. Edison's boyhood chum. He bears out Mr. Edison's statement, and if you have a minute or two he will tell you how the wizard of electricity and himself, after the day's work was done, spent many of their evening hours in rigging up a telegraph system between their homes. The hours Mr. Edison spent at this work, which to him was play, but to others would be toil, was but the beginning of his successful career."

Later a pot-luck supper was prepared and tables set in the dining room. The men of the church and the choir had been invited to unite with the ladies in partaking of the meal, and about seventy-five sat down to a feast of good things.

The doxology was sung and all enjoyed the social gathering of the evening.

INTERESTING REVIVAL

An interesting revival is being carried on at the Methodist Protestant church, there having been a number of converts. The meeting is growing in interest and numbers. Mrs. York's singing has been very inspiring and the audiences are delighted. Her choir training is excellent.

On last Friday evening $112 was raised in pledges and cash to help purchase new equipment for our Fire Department, which proves that the Methodist Protestant church stands for the betterment of the community as well as looking after the spiritual need.

Last Sunday evening a large audience greeted the Evangelist Singer, and the subject of popular amusements was discussed by the pastor.

Occupying Cottages A Problem

Lexington, Mich., Jan. 18.—Automobile parties occupying cottages in the vicinity of Lexington are getting to be a problem. Last Friday night two couples, said to be from Port Huron, were discovered by an officer occupying a cottage at Wild's beach. The couples had brought their lunch and intended having a party, but the officer took them before a local justice, who let them off with some good advice.

Sunday night Howard Foster, of Peck, found three couples occupying his cottage at Lexington beach. The intruders were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Hatton and Justice J. W. Tait made them pay $100 damages to Mr. Foster. The carpets were cut to pieces and used for curtains and general damage was committed all over the cottage. An effort is being made to stop this nuisance, as Lexington has no desire for this kind of publicity.

No ice has been harvested in Lexington up to date as the wind has been in the wrong direction. To get it here the wind has to drive the ice into shore and pile up icebergs outside and then the water between the berg and the land makes the ice quickly and of a fine quality. The local dealers are in hopes they can secure their supply from off the lake instead of having to put up pond ice.—Lexington News.

J. J. Smith, Sec'y-Treas. of the company and Mr. Carletts, auditor from the Richards Auditing Co., who did the work of auditing the Michigan Canned Food Co.'s books, were here from the head office in Detroit.
